

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword by Alexandra Pope	15
Author's preface – Opening practice: an invocation to yoni śakti	17

INTRODUCTION

Welcome home	21
Who needs Yoni Śakti ?	22
What is womb yoga and do I need a womb to practise it?	23
Old roots	25
Womb ecology and the spiritual dimensions of femininity	25
Yoginīs as agents for global justice	26
How to use this book	27
What is a yoginī ?	30
Strong language: a cautionary note on tone and terminology	31
Saturday night on the town	38
Questions and reflections	41

PART ONE: FOUNDATIONS

Foundations of womb yoga: thirteen gates	44
--	----

CHAPTER ONE

From exclusion to initiation: men teaching women, women teaching the world	47
So many women	47
Western women learning yoga 1890–1960	50
Adapting the teachings: Western women sharing yoga inside and outside traditions, 1960–2010	56
Stories from today's studios: disempowerment of women in yoga through discouragement, disrespect, disregard and disconnection	63
Empowerment of women's yoga practice through exploration, welcoming, open sharing, honouring and re-connection	75
Watching the tide turn: guidelines for a practical feminine yoga consciousness	79
For women doing yoga now	81
Questions and reflections	82
Further reading and research	83

CHAPTER TWO

Women in the pre-history and early development of yoga	84
How did we get here? Considering the roots of yoga; exploring the routes of yoga	84
Histories of yoga: the development of haṭha yoga	86
'No women please, we're yogīs '. Was classical haṭha yoga for boys only?	88
Herstories of yoga: 'Are there any girls in here?' Looking for women in the pre-history of yoga; goddess worship and the global matriarchal network of nurture	92
Female voice and presence in the Vedas	96
Tāntrik yoginīs : were the women teaching men?	97
Bhakti yoginīs : devotion as a direct line to spiritual authority	104
Questions and reflections	108
Further reading and research	108

CHAPTER THREE

Female siddhis; intuited origins for a new perspective on yoga	109
Angela Farmer's 'legend': another way of seeing it	109
Pārvatī and Śiva	110
An invitation to a radical new perspective	111
Magical mysteries in yoga: siddhis , the supernatural powers in haṭha and rāja yoga	112
Female siddhis	116
Female siddhis : the original inspiration for yoga?	122
Questions and reflections	126
Further reading and research	126

CHAPTER FOUR

Awakening to the feminine energy of the life force: prāṇa śakti and the foundations of womb yoga	127
Welcoming the power of life	127
Circle of flowing breath: welcoming the rhythmic breath cycle	128
Full yogic breath: widening the circle, inviting the guests to linger	131
Victory and surrender: the ocean–golden thread combination	132
Opening the lotus to prāṇa śakti : integrated sound, breath and hasta mudrā (hand gesture) meditation	136

CHAPTER FIVE

Greeting the womb with love: nine core practices of yonī namaskāra	140
Reconnection	140
Heart-womb river: the channel of energy between love and creativity	140
Yonisthāna cakra : placing the womb between earth and water	141
How to use these practices A note on breath and mudrā	142
Heart-womb river sacred greeting gesture: river-lotus form (inner)	143
Heart-womb river sacred greeting gesture: river-lotus form (outer)	144
Heart-womb river sacred greeting gesture: lotus-ocean form	145
Heart-womb river meditation	147
Head-heart sacred gesture meditation	148
Womb power sacred gestures sequence	149
Hiraṇya garbha : golden cosmic womb	153
Yonī śakti pūjā : honouring the power of the womb	153
Seed–flower sequence	154
Womb elevation bridge sequence	155
Extended heart space twist pose	159

CHAPTER SIX

Honouring the feminine energy of the life force: nine practices of prāṇa śakti pūjā	160
Magical river in spate – fullness flowing in the heart-womb river, hrdaya-yonī nāḍī	160
More on mud: yonisthāna and the special place of the womb	161
Mud in the scriptures: yonisthāna and other references	162
Practices to unlock power and honour the feminine energy of the life force: śakti bandhas and prāṇa śakti pūjā	163
Bhava or inner feeling	163
1 Womb pilgrimage: mill grinding (cakki calanāsana)	164
2 Womb-honouring rhythm	165
3 Lotus feet breathing	166

4 Full butterfly womb pilgrimage	167
5 Snake circles the womb	168
6 Standing womb pilgrimages	169
7 Standing heart-womb river sacred greeting gestures	172
8 Full hands womb energy pilgrimage	176
9 Eternal fountain of energy invocation	178
Note on pāda bandha and mūla bandha in these practices	179

CHAPTER SEVEN

Embodied spirit: experiencing yonī śakti with womb yoga	180
Elemental consciousness in yoga and the Taittirīya Upaniṣad	180
Table of fives: pentads in Sāṃkhya and yoga	183
Five dimensions of being sequence with gesture and sound	183
Śakta tantra : the floods of bliss and beauty (Saundaryā-Laharī) and teaching on the wisdom of the union of the individual soul with universal consciousness (Vijñāna Bhairava Tantra)	188
Honouring the elements with sound and gesture	189
Tattva yantra	199

PART TWO: LIFE CYCLES AND THE WISDOM GODDESSES

CHAPTER EIGHT

Kālī Cycles and circles of female siddhis	205
A twenty-first century note on women's rhythms and cycles	208
The whole circle: a pattern of interconnection	212
From bud to seed: cycles and circles	214
Wombs / rooms	216
Sixteen cycles	216
Goddesses and siddhis	217
The ten great wisdom goddesses (Daśa Mahāvidyās) and the female siddhis	218
Mahāvidyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	225
Mahāvidyās in the cycles of women's lives	229
Living with the Mahāvidyās	230
What to expect in this part of the book	233
Questions and reflections	235
Further reading and research	235

CHAPTER NINE

Ṣoḍaśī Celebrating menarche: yoga and girls' initiation into womanhood	237
Mahāvidyā and siddhi : wisdom and power at menarche	237
Limitations: cultural expectations	239
Freedom: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	243
Writing a letter to your younger self	248
Yoga practices	250
Yogic remedies and responses	251
Feed the wild yoginī : a ritual to reconnect the placenta with the earth and a ritual to re-vision your own menarche	252
Questions and reflections	253
Further reading and research	254

CHAPTER TEN

Tārā Honouring the cycles of the moon within: yoga, menstruation and fertility	255
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	255
Limitations: cultural expectations	258
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	261
Yoga practices	268
Feed the wild yoginī : menstrual blood pūjā	269
Yogic remedies and responses	269
Paramparā , or the yogic tower	271
Exegesis	277
Questions and reflections	278
Further reading and research	279

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Kamalātmikā Freeing the śakti : yoga and full spectrum feminine sexuality	281
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	281
Limitations: cultural expectations	284
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	289
A note on sex in neo- tantra and tāntrik yoga	295
Yoga practices	298
Yogic remedies and responses	300
Feed the wild yoginī : juice and honey	306
Questions and reflections	306
Further reading and research	307

CHAPTER TWELVE

Mataṅgi Manifesting the śakti : yoga and creative expression	309
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	309
Limitations: cultural expectations	312
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	314
Yoga practices	323
Yogic remedies and responses	324
Feed the wild yoginī : lucid dreaming ritual	326
Questions and reflections	327
Further reading and research	327

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Bhuvaneśvarī Nourishing the golden cosmic womb: yoga, pregnancy and birth	329
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	329
Limitations: cultural expectations	331
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	333
Yoga practices	338
Yogic remedies and responses	339
Feed the wild yoginī : on the lap of the cosmic mother	342
Questions and reflections	342
Further reading and research	343

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Chinnamastā Thanksgiving, grieving and healing: yoga and postnatal recovery	345
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	345
Limitations: cultural expectations	350
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	361
Yoga practices	363
Yogic remedies and responses	364
Feed the wild yoginī : radical ritual recycling 1 – drink your own breastmilk and radical ritual recycling 2 – give the placenta back to the earth	373
Questions and reflections	375
Further reading and research	375

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Bagalāmukhī Stepping into the unknown: yoga and perimenopause	377
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	379
Limitations: cultural expectations	382
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	384
Yoga practices	391
Yogic remedies and responses	391
Feed the wild yoginī : self-anointing for acceptance	393
Questions and reflections	394
Further reading and research	395

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Bhairavī Embracing our power: yoga and menopause	397
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	397
Limitations: cultural expectations	400
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	402
Yoga practices	407
Yogic remedies and responses	408
Feed the wild yoginī : radical ritual recycling 3 – drink your own amarolī	410
Questions and reflections	411
Further reading and research	411

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Dhūmavati Living our wisdom: yoga and the crowning of a woman's life	413
Mahāvīdyā and siddhi : wisdom and power	413
Limitations: cultural expectations	416
Freedoms: yoga perspectives, techniques and awareness for breathing, moving and being	417
Yoga practices	422
Yogic remedies and responses	423
Feed the wild yoginī : encounter your own death	425
Questions and reflections	426
Further reading and research	427

PART THREE: FURTHER PRACTICES OF WOMB YOGA

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Yoga nidrā: an inner ritual of healing and homecoming	432
1 Starry night pure yoga nidrā : the fundamental practice of awareness (Kālī)	435
2 New beginnings: menarche, innocence, trust and power (Ṣoḍasī)	442
3 Cyclical wisdom unfolding: menstruation, cycles and seasonal turnings (Tārā)	443
4 In the wild garden, joyous freedom to flow – sexuality, creativity and juice (Kamalātmikā and Mataṅgi)	445
5 Nourishing growth: nurturing the capacity to support new life (Bhuvaneśvarī)	446
6 Thanksgiving and grieving: postnatal recovery, transformation and adaptation (Chinnamastā)	448
7 Being with not knowing: perimenopause and the inevitability of change; becoming the seed at the heart of the fruit (Bagalāmukhī)	450
8 Self-anointing ritual: embracing power, menopause and the confidence to speak one's own truth; empowered by nature to be your true self (Bhairavī)	451
9 Out of the smoke: touching power close to the bone (Dhūmavātī)	453
10 In the yoginīs ' temple: resting and healing to live in wisdom and power; full constellation of yoginīs	454
Further reading and resources	459

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Intimacy: mind and breath	460
Meditation: welcoming inner silence, connecting with the inner teacher (antar mouna)	460
Breath dances (prāṇāyāma)	462
Golden thread breath	462
Peaks and valleys breath	463
Triangle breaths and psychic alternate nostril breathing	464
Balancing breath (padadhirasana)	466
Sonic massage (bīja mantra massage)	467
Humming bee breaths (bhrāmarī prāṇāyāma)	469
Cooling breaths (sīthālī and sītkārī)	470

CHAPTER TWENTY

Energy locks and seals (bandhas and mudrās)	472
Awakening the feet and hands (pāda bandha , hasta bandha)	472
A note on terminology: pelvic muscles and the myth of the 'pelvic floor'	473
Vaginal root lock for use with empty womb (yoginī mūla bandha)	474
Menstrual and pregnancy root lock for use with full womb (garbha mūla bandha)	475
Uplifting lock with root lock (udḍīyāna bandha with mūla bandha)	476
Horse gesture (anal squeeze) (ashvini mudrā)	476
Psychic gesture (urethral squeeze) (sahajolī mudrā)	477
Urine drinking (amarolī)	478
Five elemental hand gestures (hasta mudrā)	478
Further reading and research	479

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Support and nurture: security and uplift for the pelvic organs	480
Applications	480
Integration of pelvic organ support and positive posture into daily life	481
Healing breath: lifting up to heal and energise	482
Semi-supine practices:	483
Explorations with a flat lower back (counter-nutated pelvis)	483
Explorations with an arched back (nutated pelvis)	483
Explorations in decompression of pelvic organs	484
Combined explorations with decompression and arched back	488
Explorations in foot arch support (pāda bandha) for vaginal lift (yoginī mūla bandha), pelvic lift and pelvic organ support	488
Inverted practices:	488
Pelvic tilts with feet against wall	489
Rolling pelvic lift with feet against wall	490
Supported restorative pelvic lift with feet against wall and in Butterfly pose	491
Standing practices:	492
Standing cat with agnisara kriyā	492
Pelvic tilts exploration and rolling pelvic lift with back against wall	493
Dynamic taḍāsana (mountain pose) for pelvic organ support	494

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

Nurturing and freeing energy	496
Breast care and energy nurture practice (Deer exercise)	496
Complete liberation of energy series (pūrṇa pavanmuktāsana or PPMA):	497
A: From Stick pose	498
B: From Butterfly pose	501
C: From Cat pose	502
D: From kneeling	503
E: From Easy cross-legged pose	508
Poses to unblock the life force energy (śakti bandhas):	511
Pulling the rope	511
Dynamic spinal twist	511
Rowing the boat	512
Pumping water (easy version)	512
Pumping water (deeper version)	513
Greeting squats	513
Rocking and twisting mermaid (sacro-iliac joint-stabilising practice)	514
Cleansing practices (kriyā):	515
Essence of fire cleansing (agnisara kriyā)	515
Shining skull breath (kapālabhātī)	516
Being in the cycles / the dance of life	517
Further reading and research	521

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

Integrations	522
Sequenced poses with gestures (āsana-mudrā-mantra-vinyāsa):	522
Full moon salute (pūrṇa candra namaskāra)	522

Moon phase salute (candra namaskāra)	527
Swaying palm tree with womb greeting sequence (taḍāsana vinyāsa with yoni mudrā)	532
Postnatal sun salute	533
Feminine strength: spiritual warrior dance	536
Balancing poses:	539
Fierce goddess and lord of the dance vinyāsa (śiva/śakti: devījai utkaṭāsana-naṭarājāsana vinyāsa)	539
Half moon pose: easy version	540
Further reading and research	528

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

Spirals and snakes	541
Sequences from Cat pose and kneeling:	541
Circles and spirals	541
Kneeling salutations (vajrāsana namaskāra)	542
Rising snake series (kuṇḍalini vinyāsa, śaśāṅkabhujaṅgāsana)	543
Snake pose variation	543
Twists:	544
Standing twist (katicakrāsana)	544

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Nourishment	545
Inversions:	545
Half shoulderstand flow (viparīta karaṇī mudrā)	545
Supported poses and restoratives, part 1:	546
Wall as teacher sequence	546
Supported poses and restoratives, part 2:	550
Simple and super deluxe five-star corpse pose (savasana)	550
Supported side-lying	551
Open flower (supta baddhakoṅāsana)	552
In the golden cosmic womb (Queen's pose) (hiranya garbha /supported supta baddhakoṅāsana)	553
Hare pose (śaśāṅkāsana) with fists and blankets	553
Supported forward bend	554
Surrender and worship (praṇāmāsana)	555

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Connection and flow	556
Suggested sequencing for practice and classes	556
For uplifting spirits and energising	556
For calming and grounding	557
For reconnection and self-acceptance	557
To nourish and strengthen	558
To get unstuck and move on	558
To become cool, collected and quietly energised	559
To build sexual and creative energies	559
Menstrual and fertility mālā : circle of practices to promote a healthy menstrual cycle and to support fertility	560

PART FOUR: EXPANSIONS

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

World as womb: womb ecology, eco-feminism and yoga activism: a powerful force for change	567
Resources for yoga and eco-feminist activism	579
Further reading and research	579
Running to ground, going home to the earth, the story of the birth and death of Sitā	580

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

A womb-friendly yoga manifesto	582
Part 1: the need for womb-friendliness in the yoga world	582
Part 2: the information	583
Yoga and womb life: special times	585
At a glance table for womb-friendly yoga practice	587
A voice from the womb	589
Sharing this information	590
Revealing the cosmic gateway	591

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

Conclusion and beginnings: śakti circles	595
Closing ritual: greeting women's power in a śakti circle	601
A note to male readers	602
A note on yoga lineages and traditions	603

AFTERWORD

Genesis, gestation and birth of Yoni Śakti: learning to be fearless	604
Acknowledgements	610
Trainings, retreats and learning resources	612
Notes on pronouncing Sanskrit words	616
Sanskrit glossary of terms	618
Select chronology: 50,000 BCE to 2003 CE	622
Bibliography	626
Permissions	639
Index of therapeutic applications and life experiences	640
Index of practices	645
General index	648
About the author and illustrator	655

APPENDIX

Ten Mahāvīdyā yantras: for meditation and contemplation	657
Commentary and reflections by Nirlipta Tuli, illustrator	658